

Adium is used here as an example, but any Growl-enabled application will follow the same process in registering

User gets displayed something similar to this bubble if everything goes smoothly.

